

Marabu brings new hand and surface sanitizer to market

April 28, 2020 - North Charleston, SC As we come to grips with this global pandemic crisis known as Coronavirus, staying healthy has never been more important. Yet we have seen worldwide shortages of many critical hygiene supplies, from face masks to disinfectants to hand sanitizer.

Marabu is proud to announce a much-needed new product for the home and workplace – Mara® Disinfect. This versatile, alcohol-based solution can be used two ways to help prevent infection and disease – by sanitizing your hands AND disinfecting your work surfaces.

Its gentle, antibacterial formula is suitable for anyone practicing safe hygiene indoors or outside – including office staff, medical personnel, first responders, factory and field workers, food service employees and families sheltered in place.

Marabu has converted some of our production facilities at our corporate headquarters in Germany, as well as here in the US, to make Mara Disinfect, developed in accordance with World Health Organization guidelines. After providing it to our own essential employees and donating hundreds of cases to local hospitals, we are now making it available for sale to organizations and individuals in 8-ounce bottles, perfect for refilling your own personal spray or pump containers.

When gloves are in short supply or when handwashing with soap and water is not available, WHO recommends alcohol-based sanitizers to rapidly and most effectively destroy potentially harmful microorganisms on the skin. Mara Disinfect is non-irritating, with no added dyes or perfumes and no rinsing required.
